[Company name]

Customer Support Article

Version: [0.0]
Prepared by: Click here to enter text.
Modified date: 9/25/2006

Customer Support Article

This section gives a short description of the content of the document.

Summary

This section gives a summary of the information that this document contains.

Information

This section is for the main body of the article. The sub-headings below are for guidance only, and can be changed to suit your situation. You can add further sub-headings as necessary.

Problem

A brief description of the problem.

Possible Causes

Reasons for the problem occurring.

Solutions

What can be done to solve the problem.

References

This section gives a list of references that may be relevant. For example, you can list other documents that describe similar problems, or direct the user to further information on your Web site.