

Paragraph styles can define shading on characters.

This can be overridden or cancelled by a character style.

And both of these are overridden by either a “none” or a different colour in direct formatting.

And finally, a paragraph style can cancel another paragraph style.

A side benefit is that a “none” will also be able to cancel a character style background.